Knowledge Gain Programmes (KG)

Welcome to the Knowledge Gain level of training programmes. Knowledge gain courses are instrumental for keeping your CPD and industry knowledge up-to-date, ensuring you are aware of any new developments in the field and equipping you with the required information when faced with a range of complex challenges in the workplace. Although unaccredited, knowledge gain programmes bring a lot of value to your CV, demonstrating that you are dedicated to keeping your finger on the pulse. They can also count towards your CPD recertification memberships.

Soft Skills

Develop your IT, time-management and literacy skills. This will give you the confidence to undertake future in-depth study should you wish to, especially if you're uncertain about formal training.

Topic Introduction

Boost your confidence and understanding before embarking on accredited qualifications.

Skills Development and Training

Industry Verticals

Gain an informed insight into the various branches of security and risk management, how they interplay, and the threats and challenges they are currently facing.

Security Language

If you're new to the role or the industry, or maybe new to the topic itself, develop your understanding of the language used in the security and risk arena, what it means in context and how it plays into your role.
