

Silver Level (Tactical Programmes)

Welcome to the Silver level of your career pathway. This level is for those either working in or working towards Tactical positions within security. Programmes at this level are designed for those either in or working towards middle-management positions, with responsibilities for supervising people, policies and procedures, and hardware. As many of the courses within this banding are specialist, you may wish to add them to your CV in order to help carve a niche within the field and become a Subject Matter Expert. Similarly, you may wish to study Silver programmes in order to gain access to Gold level training courses.

Specialisms

Develop your specialisms within a niche area of middle-management and demonstrate your ability to provide solutions to a range of security and risk related issues.

Career Development

Utilise your existing experience coupled with research to critically analyse and adapt existing security measures.

Qualifications

Leverage your higher qualifications to boost your professional membership with organisations like The Security Institute and ASIS.

Knowledge Gain

Enhance your understanding of security and risk management concepts and challenges faced by today's security manager.

Security Theory & Best Practice

Incorporate security language and theory into industry-recognised best practices.

Academic Style
